RENO, Nev. (News 4 & Fox 11) — Sen. Catherine Cortez Masto, D-Nevada, took part in a roundtable discussion on female veterans' issues in Reno on Thursday.

The discussion was held at the Veterans Guest House and focused on experiences with VA health care, resources and support for service members who have experience sexual trauma, and the role and treatment of women serving in the military Cortez Masto said the VA hospital in Reno provides great services for women, but more needs to be done to connect them with VA facilities after being discharged. They should also be better educated on available health care services.

The senator also said VA hospitals face staffing challenges, due in part to losing doctors to the private sector and student debt.
